A Place in Time

*Some years ago God carved for us
A special place in time,
Where olden crafts would live again
And be taught in modern times.
The cadence of the spinning wheel, the shuttle's bang and knock,
And clicking knitting needles,
Would sound like an old clock.
A place where neighbors gather
To spin a yarn or thread,
Where those who entered strangers,
Would leave as friends instead.*

*But time is always moving on,
And things are ever changing.
And so it's true about the shop
We're often rearranging.
You'll soon see fewer books and crafts-
We're bringing in the new,
We're changing what we have to sell
To better service you.
We'll emphasize what you do most,
Spin yarn, knit and crochet,
Offering the best we can
With help along the way.*

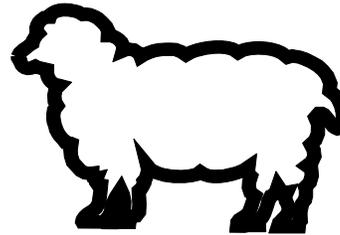

*But some things still will be the same,
Like the Spirit of this place,
Where help is free for asking,
And life's a slower pace.
Still 'round the hearth we'll gather,
To chat and spin and knit,
And share some joy and laughter
As by the fire we sit.
So pour yourself some coffee,
Work on a project, too
And enjoy this place of refuge
That God's provided you.*

*And know that you are welcomed
To browse or shop or sit
And experience God's solace
As you spin, crochet, or knit.
And this Thanksgiving season
May gratitude you feel
For the keepers and their little shop
That is called, Wool, Warp & Wheel.*
